DRASTIC IMMIGRATION BILL IS DRAWN

HUMANIZE STEEL MILLS, CHURCH PLEA

Interchurch Commission Asks Congress to Abolish 12-Hour Day

CONDITIONS UNCHANGED

Bishop M'Connell Says Gary Still Crushes Workers in Big Mills

By LAURENCE TODD
Federated Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Action by Congress to abolish the twelve-hour day, the seven-day week and the existing condition of autocracy by the bosses in the steel industry, is demanded by members of the Interchurch World Movement commission of inquiry into the causes of the steel strike.

They are clearly not satisfied with the fact that they have issued a report exposing the barbarous policy of Gary and his associates. They want something done by Congress to prevent the continuance of the crime.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell of Pittsburgh, chairman, and Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, vice-chairman of the commission of inquiry, have submitted to Congress a memorial, supplementing their testimony of Jan. 27 before the senate Committee on labor, in which they hint that the publication of their report as a public document will not fill the requirements of the steel workers; Congress must protect these victims from further tyranny.

"In the seven months since their report was given to the nation," they say, "the members of the commission, in pursuit of their customary official duties in every part of the country, north, south, east and west, have sensed a public opinion which quietly but strongly supports their report and its recommendations. Moreover they have noted recent pronouncements of church organizations an increasing insistence that industrial relations such as are typified in this industry be corrected.

"Thus, though they speak as the humblest individuals, the commissioners feel that they present the views of very, very many, when they raise for the third time the question:

"Is the nation helpless before crises in a basic industry which threatens future crisis? Can our democratic society be moved to do simple justice without the prospect of crisis itself?'

We ask specifically that Congress act along the line of the recommendations of the steel report; that unwilling to believe that the government does nothing and leaves the issue to a contest of trade unions and the manufacturing corporations.

That the federal government set up a commission for the steel industry in order to initiate free, open conference between those who must hereafter be chiefly responsible for the control of the industry's problems—the owners and its workers."

In spite of the evident hostility of the press to all humane proposals for industrial relations, the Interchurch commission asks Congress in these closing days of the present reactionary Congress of a gentleman's agreement to—

Have the Federal government and the Steel Corporation and its workers into immediate conference, with a Government tribunal, to consider the 12-hour day and 7-day week and to readjust wages.

Establish a permanent free conference between workers and employers in the steel industry for the settlement of their disputes.

Make a nation wide exhaustive study of all basic industries as to dangerous conditions and unemployment.

Expose the secret alliance of the Department of Justice agents with the detective agencies serving steel companies as strike breakers and destroyers of union organization.

Bunting Will Report in Few Days

Coroner C. Bunting of the university, who is examining the body of Richard S. Lawrence, killed at the foot of S. Broom St. March 21, 1918, by a train, announced last night that he will make a written report to Dist. Atty. Theodore G. Lewis within the next couple of days. The body of Lawrence, which was exhumed Monday was again interred yesterday afternoon.

Martin Hits U. of W. Officials; Blaine Meets Miss M'Swiney

Green Bay Man Denounces Action in Denying Platform to Speaker; Governor Tells Speaker Her Brother is John Brown of Ireland

P. H. Martin of Green Bay, before a crowd that packed the assembly chamber last night, denounced the "cold refusal" of university authorities to allow Miss MacSwiney to be heard from a university platform.

Before Miss MacSwiney arrived Fred L. Holmes called the meeting to order and asked Mr. Martin to say a few words to the audience. Mr. Martin said in part:

"I thank God," said Mr. Martin, "that under the vaulted dome of this great capitol we have a legislature that is not afraid to open this building to one who bears a message of liberty. When I think of the manner in which the Emma Goldmans in the past have been allowed the university platform it makes my blood boil to think of the cold refusal of the university authorities on the hill to hear the message of liberty because it happens to be against the British."

Miss MacSwiney met Gov. Blaine shortly before the address in the assembly.

"I hope that you will do all that you can for the cause of Ireland, Gov. Blaine," said Miss Mac Swiney.

"Miss MacSwiney," said Gov. Blaine, "I want you to carry this message back to Ireland. The people of Wisconsin consider Lord Mayor MacSwiney and Lord MacCurtain the John Browns of Ireland."

"Thank God," replied Miss MacSwiney.

Daniel H. Grady of Portage made an eloquent address in introducing Miss MacSwiney. Mr. Grady is one of Wisconsin's greatest orators and his address held the audience closely.

EGGS DROPPING AS HENS LAY

Eggs were selling at from 43 to 55 cents a dozen at Madison groceries today, and the wholesale market was completely demoralized as a result of the laying spurt of hens in this vicinity due to the mild weather. One up-town grocery dropped the retail price from 55 cents to 45 cents a dozen today. Eggs were selling at 40 cents a dozen in crate lots. Farmers have been receiving from 37 to 38 cents a dozen, but the drop to 31½ cents in the Chicago market will cause a further drop here, egg men predicted.

Whether the decline in egg prices will continue depends on the weather and the hens, the men said. Many eggs are being shipped in from the northern part of the state, and this affects the local market, although most of the eggs sold in groceries are purchased from the farmers or from nearby villages. Eggs were selling at 65 cents a dozen two weeks ago.

35 Cents in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE—The Milwaukee wholesale price for eggs today ranged from 35 to 40 cents. One week ago eggs sold wholesale here at 54 cents. Few eggs are being sold at retail here for less than 50 cents a dozen, dealers said, as they are disposing of high priced stocks.

Chicago Eggs 40 Cents.

CHICAGO—Easter eggs in Chicago—predicted to reach a price of $1 a dozen—will be sold for 40 cents. A veritable flood of eggs, loosed by hens who have mistaken a mild winter for spring, coming on the heels of an acute shortage, broke the Chicago market yesterday to the lowest price in years—31½ cents wholesale. This is a cut of about 34 cents in less than a month. In St. Louis the price dropped to 31 cents. As a result egg brokers, most of whom have contracted for supplies at high prices, will lose thousands of dollars.

Milwaukee to Appeal Rail Rate Increase

MILWAUKEE, Wis.— Appeal of the city from the order from the state railroad commission increasing rates in Milwaukee will be filed within a few days, according to Walter J. Mattison, assistant city attorney. The appeal will then come before the circuit court of Dane county, he said. The appeal is based on the allowance by the commission of returns of 8 per cent upon the property, which the city claims is unreasonably high and the alleged failure of the commission to give adequate consideration to excess earnings of the company in the past.

Oust Boys Because of Fraternity Affiliation

MILWAUKEE, Wis.— Because they were members of a fraternity, said to have representatives in almost every large school in Milwaukee, four boys have been expelled from West Division high school, it was reported today. Three of the boys have been admitted into other high schools on probation, while the case of the fourth youth is still pending.

TALK GETTLE FOR RAIL BODY

Madison Man Mentioned as Successor to John H. Allen

No appointment is expected to be made as railroad commissioner for several days. The term of John S. Allen, Lake Geneva, railroad commissioner, expired last week. Several men had been mentioned for the position but so far the executive office has given no intimation of appointment. Among the men mentioned are John Meeks, railroad brotherhood, Milwaukee; Lewis Gettle, Madison, former secretary of state railroad commission; Judge Heck, Racine, and A. H. Krugmeier, Appleton. The salary of the position is $5.000 annually and the term is six years.

Miss Riley Returns From State Trip

Miss Martha Riley of the state board of health returned this afternoon from a 7-day trip about Wisconsin with Mrs. Martha Falconer, assistant educational director of the American Social Hygiene association of New York city. Mrs. Falconer is interested in getting more protective work and workers for girls and young women. She addressed meetings at Ashland, Hurley, Green Bay, Janesville and Racine. At Ashland, Green Bay and Janesville, concerted efforts are being made by women's organizations to secure a woman on the police force.

Hold Woman for Making Moonshine

IRONWOOD, Mich.—A moonshine still "going full blast" was found by county officers when they raided the home of Bojo Grebich, Jessieville, near here. Helen Uraranovich, was arrested charged with making moonshine. When the officers entered the house they found the still in operation and several men and women watching the process of manufacture.

Madison Women to Speak in Milwaukee

Miss Maud Neprud of the state board of control and Miss Martha Riley of the state board of health will be among the speakers of the first annual convention of the Wisconsin branch of the League of Women Voters, to be held in Milwaukee, Feb. 17 and 18.

YOUR MONEY BEING USED TO KILL LIBERTY

—MISS MacSWINEY

ENGLAND DENOUNCED

Tells How People of Ireland Aided U. S. During the Revolution

"You have loaned England 5,000 millions of dollars of which you will never get back a penny. This money was raised in this country to fight for liberty and democracy. But this money which was raised in this country to fight for liberty is now being used by England to fight liberty in Ireland."

This was one of the statements made last night by Miss Mary MacSwiney in her address delivered in the assembly before a crowd that packed every inch of available space in the chamber. So large was the crowd that hundreds could not get into the room and following the address in the assembly Miss MacSwiney spoke to a large overflow meeting in the rotunta of the capitol.

Miss MacSwiney made a wonderfully impressive address. Without using any of the eloquence of oratory that is so dear to the average Irish speaker Miss Mac Swiney told in a simple but impressive manner of the wrongs being visited upon her country. She was dressed entirely in black and wore a large black mourning veil. Miss MacSwiney held her audience in wrapt attention and she was given an ovation by the crowd.

Miss MacSwiney's address in part follows:

"The United States made the same fight, less than 150 years ago, against the tyranny of England, that Ireland is making now," she declared. "France was asked to recognize your country, and did, while it was still struggling against an army of occupation, as my country is now struggling.

"Ireland was at that time unable to give official recognition to the young republic, but it did give moral support and practical aid, sending thousands to enlist in American companies, refusing to join the British expeditionary forces and, when conscripted by force and transported to this side of the ocean, Irishmen by the hundreds waited only for the first dark night to desert Britain's regiments and take up arms on the side of the colonies.

Is Now Republic.

"Now Ireland is only asking that you, in return, recognize it as an independent republic. We do not ask that the United States fire one shot or spend one dollar in our behalf. You have nothing to fear from England. England is now using the five billion dollars, which you lent it to fight for freedom, in keeping freedom from the Irish people. The money you will never get back.

"England is having far more trou-

Says Armenians Look To America For Assistance

MISS ELIZABETH KELLEY.

"The Armenians are shrewd, intelligent, industrious, and have that quality of initiative without which all these things are useless. They are passionately eager to develop their own country," said Miss Elizabeth B. Kelley, director of industrial work in orphanages in Armenia, before the Get-Together Marketing conference here last night.

"They hate living on charity. They lack leadership, because for the past 600 years the possession of the qualities of leadership have marked their possessor for the Turks knife.

"It makes no difference who finds the money to loan these Armenians to get on their feet, it will ultimately come from the United States, not only in amounts contributed so generously by the American people to the work of relief, but the actual loans to the Armenian government will come out of American pockets. Either American bankers will float these loans and sell Armenian bonds in the United States, or the French or British governments will borrow money from the United States government or English or French bankers will float loans in the United States and part of this capital will be reloaned to Armenia at a profit, naturally to those who do the real loaning.

"The disinterested spirit of charity with which the United States came to the aid of these suffering people, the extensive relief work done by the Near East, have woven ties of eternal gratitude between the Armenian people and the people of the United States. They believe in us. It would be useless for us to say that we shall not profit commercially by all of this."

Today is livestock day. Breeders and feeders from all of the important livestock centers of the state are here for the gathering. In addition to the conference program, the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders' association will be held.

The discussion at the market conference will be lead by L. P. Martiney of Chippewa Falls, John Kelley of Baraboo, Gordon True of California, D. H. Grady of Portage, John L. Tormy of Chicago, and C. J. Schroeder of Racine.

The livestock breeders held their annual meeting with President W. L. Houser of Mondovi presiding. The Possibilities in the Livestock Trade in South America will be presented by L. B. Burk of the bureau of markets of the United States department of agriculture.

The stockmen's banquet will be held at the city Y. M. C. A. at 6. Short talks are to be given by Mr. Houser on the stock judging contests; J. A. James, on Future Stockmen; A. W. Hopkins on Our Membership; a county agent will tell of the progress of the better bull campaign. Governor Blaine will attend the banquet and deliver the main address of the evening.

NINTH WARD COMMUNITY HOUSE SURE

Project Will be Realized Prof. Gordon Tells Welfare Workers

FINANCES CONSIDERED

Ask Legislators for Law Authorizing Appropriation by City

A community house for the ninth ward will probably be realized in the near future, according to Prof. E. B. Gordon of the university, who told that Public Welfare association, at its dinner and business meeting in the Woman's building last night, that within the next few days a committee, representing all organizations in the city, will be appointed to consider the ways and means of financing the project.

Prof. Gordon characterized the project as a big undertaking but the only thing that will really meet the community's need. He declared that interested citizens and organizations had been studying the problem for the past year and had come to the conclusion that the inter-relationship is needed between the American born of Madison and its foreign born residing in the ninth ward and should be begun now.

"The plan to be recommended for obtaining the money for this project will be neither a drive nor public subscriptions, but each city organization will be asked to appropriate a certain amount in this budget," Prof. Gordon declared.

Resolution is Passed

A resolution asking two Dane county legislators, Sen. Henry Huber and Assemblyman Herman W. Suchtjen, to introduce a bill amending the state statutes to make it possible for a city to appropriate funds for a public welfare institution, incorporated under the state laws, was passed unanimously. This resolution was offered by Ald. Elver, who, representing the Madison Public Welfare association, had asked the council last summer to appropriate $1,500 for the work of the association. City Attorney Ryan held, however, that under the Wisconsin statutes, such an appropriation was illegal. Of the $1,500 asked $600 would have been spent for maintenance of the association's building.

The importance of the "family work" of the association was dwelt upon by Miss Janette Davis, executive secretary, who explained that the chief aim of the association was to keep together families who, through misfortune or illness, are unable to function normally, to put them on their feet and make them self-respecting, self-supporting and useful units in the community. She declared that a sympathetic understanding of the backgrounds, problems and nature of these people is essential to any constructive work. Such was the fundamental purpose of the association.

Treasurer in Report

A balance of $2,439.44 was in the association's treasury Feb. 1, according to George E. Spohn, treasurer. He gave the following report: Amount on hand Oct. 1, 1920, $984.60; receipts of last four months tag day, $3,541.66; contributions, $1.061; relief, $175.55; day nursery, $123.57; clinics, $51.75; service shop, $1.216; other sources, $31.81;

Declares War Vets in Filthy Hospitals

WASHINGTON — Charges that government bureaus having to do with soldier relief are "packing the committees of the American Legion with bureau employes who are members of the legion" were made before Legion's executive committee here today by Abel Davis of Chicago, chairman of the hospitalization committee. "As a result, the work of the Legion in soldier relief matters is being greatly handicapped," said Mr. Davis. Former service men are being kept in private hospitals that are "indescribably filthy and in which conditions are terrible," Mr. Davis declared.

La Crosse Woman is Killed by Auto

LA CROSSE, Wis.—When an auto skidded on an icy pavement and crashed into a sign post, Mrs. Luella Ness, aged 23, wife of C. L. Ness, a merchant was killed. Third Elopement Takes Place In Steinle Family

The third elopement in the family of George Steinle, Madison manufacturer, occurred Monday when Laura, 16, high school student, married Charles J. Hines, 18, business college student at Rockford, Ill.

The family record reads:

Clinton Steinle, son, eloped in 1918; Helen Steinle, daughter, eloped in 1919; Laura Steinle, daughter, eloped in 1921.

The bride and bridegroom returned to Madison today.

AUTHER HERE; ANSWERS SUIT

Makes Answer to Divorce Bill of Philip Franzen

Pierre Paul Auther, who fled with the wife of Philip M. Franzen, university decorator, arrived in the city last night, and this morning visited Sheriff McCormick in his office. He announced that he had come to Madison to make an answer to the divorce suit which has been started by Mr. Franzen. It is believed that he is acting as Mrs. Franzen's agent.

Mrs. Franzen is said to have come to the city with Auther, but neither of them had registered at local hotels, last night. When last in the city in connection with his escapade, Auther declared that he still loved his "soul mate," and wanted to marry her when she is free. What steps he has taken to secure his own freedom are not known. He has a wife and one little child.

FRENCH ARMY IS BIGGEST IN WORLD

But Italy's Reserves Makes it Biggest Military Power, Says Baker

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — France has the greatest standing army in the world, according to information sent to congress today by Sec'y Baker, but counting its active and reserve forces. Italy is the world's leading military power.

France's regular force is 732,000, consisting of conscripted French and Colonial troops, and in addition it has 1,560,000 men enrolled in the reserves. Italy's regular force numbers 350,000 but its reserve consists of 4,627,000 men. Japan's military forces comprise 1,928 men, including a regular army of 273,000.

Great Britain's army of white troops totals 295,000 with 130,000 additional native and colonial troops plus 233,000 men in the territorial armies.

Regarding the Japanese army next year, Mr. Baker said, "It is known on good authority that it is in excess of that for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1921."

WOULD LIMIT PERCENTAGE OF ALIENS

Senate Body Frames Substitute for House Proposal

COAL PROBE IS PUSHED

La Follette to Hear Further Charges of Coal Conspiracy

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The House immigration bill which would have virtually stopped immigration for one year was disapproved today by the senate immigration committee by a vote of 5 to 4. The committee agreed to adopt a substitute tomorrow restricting immigration on a percentage basis.

Chairman Colt said the substitute would "allay all fears of a flood of undesirable aliens from Europe" and that he would push its passage at this session. The substitute measure provides that "the number of aliens of any nationality whom may be admitted to the U. S. in any fiscal year shall be limited to 5 percent of the number of persons of such nationality resident in the U. S. as determined by the U. S. census next preceding."

Nationals of Japan, as well as of many other countries would be excluded from the operation of a temporary immigration control bill considered today by the committee. After making some minor changes the committee plans to approve the substitute tomorrow.

The substitute would affect largely immigrants coming from Europe. Besides Japanese nationals, aliens who would specifically be exempted from the provisions of the measure would be those from China, Canada, New Foundland, Cuba, Mexico, Central America, South America and Nations with which treaties exist regulating immigration.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Specific charges that a combination exists in the coal trade to maintain high prices and to shut off the supply to dealers who cut rates, were put before the Calder coal regulation bill on Tuesday by John C. L. Ritter, who said the "combination put him out of business."

Chairman La Follette ruled that the committee would go further with the inquiry after Senator Reed said the witness had "established a prima facie case of conspiracy to violate anti-trust laws and moved that the department of justice agents be summoned to explain their attitude in the matter.

A man representing a coal mining company, suggested to him, Ritter said, that he "raise his price 25 cents a ton each week until he got only 10 or 15 cents below the association price," which was a figure fixed during 1919 and 1920, according to the witness, by an association of local coal dealers. He refused, he said, and after April, 1920, he could not get any coal.

"There wasn't a man in the country who would contract to give me next year's supply," he said, "and I had to do business with any gypsy I could find who would sell me dirt for coal."

Walsh Sees Conspiracy.

NEW YORK—Frank P. Walsh, attorney for the railroad labor unions in the contest before the railroad labor board declared the railroad executives' proposal to abrogate national shop agreements was "part of a huge conspiracy having its birth in Wall street," and indicated he would ask that J. P. Morgan and Judge E. H. Gary be subpoenaed before the railroad labor board.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 32 at midnight and the lowest was 22 at 7 a. m. Precipitation was .08 and the sun sets at 5:21.

Rain and warmer weather accompany a barometric trough that is crossing the Appalachian regions and the east Gulf states toward the Atlantic. Colder weather prevails in the Mississippi Valley and in western Canada. Another barometric trough is crossing the Rocky mountains preceded by Chinook winds and warmer weather and followed by rain and warmer on the north Pacific slope.

The 1921 budget as outlined by Mrs. Louis M. Hobbins calls for $11,000. The 1920 budget, she said, had called only for $7,000.

The inadequacy of the present mothers' pension, was discussed by Mrs. Herman O. Jonas who is also a member of the child welfare board. The law provides that a widow without means is entitled to $15 a month for the first child and $10 for each subsequent child, all under 14 years up to the amount of $40 a month. Mrs. Jonas cited the cases of widows with six or seven children and pointed out that these children cannot have the right sort of life in a home where poverty is so dire and the mother is forced to go out to supplement the $40. No matter how willing and good the mother of such a family is, she cannot give her children the training they should have. Often she is forced to leave them to their own devices the greater part of the time. Mrs. Jonas moved that the association go on record as favoring an increase in the pension allowed, and the motion was carried unanimously.

Membership Is 200.

The present membership of the Public Welfare association is 200, Mrs. A. B. Cook, chairman of the membership committee, reported. Others who gave reports were:

Mrs. Phyllis Frawley, who stated that few repairs had been necessary on the property at 22 N. Hancock st; Mrs. Paul S. Warner, who told of the activities of the day nursery, describing it as an economic assets to the community as it allows mothers to put their children in a good home while they go out to work and aid in supporting the families; Mrs. Isaac Weaver of the school board, who talked on the need for clinical work in the schools; Mrs. L. E. Reber, who spoke on the eye, ear, nose and throat clinic of the organization; Mrs. I. Milo Kittleson, who told of the work of the dental clinic, and Dr. S. H. Chase, who spoke on the progress made in preventative dental work in other cities.

Charles S. Meek, superintendent of schools, talked briefly on the two problems of the schools he considers most vital at present: the building program, and the teaching force. He declared that the city had "fallen down" on its building program and that new buildings were badly needed. The other problem, he said, was to take care of the city corps of teachers and avoid the annual 40 per cent turnover caused, partly, by low salaries.

Reports on Aid Work.

Mrs. William McNamee, reporting on the work done by the association at Christmas and Thanksgiving, declared that 25 per cent of the families assisted at Christmas needed help only because of the unemployment prevalent in the city.

A report was also made on the Service Shop, which was shown to be at once a profitable financial enterprise and a boon to the poorer citizens of Madison, who can purchase articles of clothing, furniture and so an at nominal prices without having to feel that they are accepting charity. The articles sold are contributed by people who no longer have use for them, and who would otherwise throw them away or store them in the attic.

Keeping Tab On The Legislature

SKOGMO HAS MEASURE TO UNITE BOARDS

Says Various Educational Bodies Should be Combined Into One

WOULD DRAW LINE

Would Limit New Board to Field of Inspection and Policies

BY FRED L. HOLMES.

Senator George B. Skogmo's new educational bill which came into the senate provides for a revision of the present law so as to combine in one office the department of education, the present vocational board, the present state board of education and the present office of state superintendent. By consolidating these three offices into one, greater efficiency will be obtained, according to Senator Skogmo.

"The purpose of my bill for a new and smaller state board of education is to combine in one office, or department of education the present three offices of the state superintendent, the state vocational board and the state board of education, and to limit such board strictly to the field of inspection and educational policies," said Senator Skogmo. "My bill provides for the complete separation of the work of inspection and policies from the administration of the normal schools, Stout institute, the Mining school at Platteville and the university. When the legislature has made appropriations to these institutions, their administrative boards, the normal board and the university board ought to be free to administer the affairs of these institutions without a board being placed over them. If such administrative boards cannot exercise the usual administrative powers and duties, they should be abolished.

"My bill as being drawn will provide for the complete unification of our entire educational system for inspection of the public schools and its resulting policies. It will do away with the dual system and yet will have ample safeguards by sections and proper representation on the board for the full development of our growing system of vocational schools.

"The plan of the bill has the best features of the California educational system, but it contemplates a partial system of cooperative inspection by the normal schools, Stout institute and the university. My one purpose has been to do what I could to secure the very best educational system for this commonwealth. I hope to work with the committees on education in the senate and in the assembly, with the governor and all others to work out the very best system of inspection and policies on the one hand and of administration on the other. I believe the legislature and the administration can cordially work together on this important subject."

MANY CONVENTIONS COMING TO MADISON DURING FEBRUARY

College of Agriculture to be Especially Busy Place This Month

February this year is a popular convention month in Madison, especially at the College of Agriculture, with its mid-winter farmers' course and countless meetings of the various breeders' associations. On Monday and Tuesday the Wisconsin Press association convened here, with 60 delegates.

Tuesday and Wednesday, nearly 100 of the Wisconsin State Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages held their annual convention in the city.

From Feb. 14 to 25, a small group of men from all parts of the country will take the kiln drying course at the Forest Products laboratory.

About 75 members of the Wisconsin County Boards association will be in Madison, Feb. 15 to 17.

On Feb. 22 to 24, between 300 and 500 members of the Wisconsin Brotherhood of Threshermen will meet here for their annual meeting.

State May Get Big Sum From Uncle Sam

The state of Wisconsin may be able to collect $214,000 from the federal government as a claim for material furnished to the guard in 1916 when the guard was sent to the border and again in 1917 when the guard was again equipped for national service. According to Adjutant Orlando Holway this claim has been audited and approved by the war department. Gov. Blaine suggested that Gen. Holway and Major W. W. Williams go to Washington and get the matter presented. Gen. Holway made this report upon returning to Madison today.

Coughs, Colds Try BRAZILIAN BALM

Community Body Proposal is Made By Senator Nye

By FRED L. HOLMES

A state board to be known as the "Wisconsin Community Council" is provided for in a bill offered in the senate on Wednesday by Ray J. Nye Superior. To this board is given all the powers and duty of the present interdepartmental committee on community council. This board shall be composed of representatives of the department of public instruction, state board of health, state board of agriculture, board of control, dairy and food commissioner, the industrial commission, Wisconsin free library commission, conservation commission, railroad commission, highway commission, University of Wisconsin extension, and the college of agriculture. Representatives from other state departments may be admitted to membership upon application or invitation. The bill has been drawn by Mrs. E. T. Thompson, La Crosse. The council shall have an office in the capitol and shall work for the betterment of home and community life. A conference composed of representatives of county and other local councils shall be held annually at a time and place designated by the council. This council is required to make an annual report to the governor. An annual appropriation of $15,000 is provided. This movement is the carrying out of the community movement among women which was organized during the war.

CROWD HEARS MISS M'SWINEY

ble with its South African colonies than it would have known. For another war it would have to borrow again from the United States, as yours is the only nation that has money to loan today. Your country is the wealthiest and most powerful one in the world, and could recognize Ireland without any fear from British armed objection."

Safe for England.

Miss MacSwiney said that she did not wish to describe in detail the horrible deeds of English soldiers in Ireland.

"Multiply by 100," she said, "all the tales you have heard of alleged German atrocities in Belgium, then multiply the horror of each deed by another 100, and you will gain some conception of what British black and tans are doing to our women and children.

"Your president said, when you entered the war, that the world would be safe for democracy. You have not made it safe for democracy—only safe for England and its imperialistic policy, for a little while longer.

"You left 60,000 of your soldiers lying shattered on the fields of France and Flanders, but, what was more pitiful, you left your ideals lying shattered on the diplomatic tables of the peace conference.

"When the United States gave its word that small nations would be protected, Ireland believed you. Britain made the same declaration but the Irish knew what its word was worth. Your country cannot break faith any longer, without its honor being forever tarnished, and America disgraced.

"You showed President Wilson that he spoke the sentiment of the American people when he went into the war, but you also showed him, just as clearly last November, that he did not speak your mind when he came out of the war.

"Lloyd George is making all sorts of concessions to Ireland, to keep it within England's power, just as your colonies were offered inducements to remain under the British flag in 1776, but you were not deterred by England's diplomatic moves, and Ireland will not be. Nothing short of an independent republic will satisfy the Irish people. They will face extermination rather than surrender.

"England would have you believe that Ireland is divided upon this question. A popular vote, cast a year ago, showed that only nine per cent of the Irish people were against complete severance from England, and I believe now that this small minority has been won over to the cause of freedom by the acts of the English army of occupation.

Irish Republic Successful.

"The government of the Irish republic is functioning successfully in spite of 150,000 British soldiers. All meetings have to be held in secret and every Irish official has a price upon his head, but our government will function until freedom comes, or until the race is exterminated.

"Why hasn't your government recognized Ireland? Is it because you are afraid of England? Is it possible that we, a nation of a trifle over 4,000,000 people, are the only one not terrorized by British bullying tactics?

"I ask that you who are here do everything in your power to hasten the recognition of our country. You can do this in two ways—through collective action with the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, and through individual communication with your congressmen and president at Washington.

"Act quickly. Every moment of delay is costing Ireland untold sufferings. America has—already hesitated too long."

Bills Introduced In the Assembly

Assembly bills offered were:

E. H. Johnson: In counties of less than 30,000 population only one county fair shall receive state aid.

Ruffing: State board of control shall license home finding societies on the payment of the $5 fee.

Young: Deputy county clerk may administer oats of office.

Summerville: Commission form of government for counties.

J. C. Hanson: School houses may be used for dancing on a majority petition of the residents of the school district.

Young: Increasing the qualifications to be admitted as a pharmacist. Bill would require three year high school course before examination can be taken.

Prescott: Increasing the qualifications before a person may be licensed as an embalmer.

Sachtjen: Requiring a written statement of a person who desires to plead guilty to a crime.

SENATE ADOPTS BOND MEASURE

Young Bill Authorizes Sale of Bonds for Highways

The senate concurred in Speaker Young's bill authorizing for sale at less than par 1920 county bonds for highway purposes.

Sen. Titus introduced a bill providing state fire protection for forest lands in Vilas County.

A bill by Sen. Dennhardt provides for the use of standard designs or markers for the state highway trunk system, no other markets, billboards, or advertising material to be allowed within the boundry limits of the highway system.

A new bill by Sen. Titus provides that all instruments in writing conveying interest in lands shall state the quality of the soil, the acreage of swamp land included, whether there is land rock or outcropping of ledges and the necessary acreage to be drained. The Wisconsin Real Estate board will be given power to revoke the license of any real estate broker for failure to observe this kind of a contract.

Acting upon the suggestion of Sen. Conant it was practically settled by the senate that the Conant and Severson surtax bills and the Arnold income tax bill will be heard at a session of the senate in session as a committee of the whole with members of the house invited to be present. The exact date was not settled.

MICHIGAN FARE RATES RAISED

Commerce Commission Today Orders 20 Per cent Boost

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — State passenger and Pullman fares in Michigan were ordered today by the Interstate Commerce commission to be raised to the same level as interstate rates effective March 19.

The commission said the state legislature had set a maximum state passenger rate of 2.5 cents per mile, but that this was increased to 3 cents by order of the director general during federal control, and has remained on that basis since the roads were returned. The increase ordered is 20 per cent of that rate.

"Beyond the borders of the state of Michigan are Toledo, Fort Wayne, South Bend, Chicago, Milwaukee, Green Bay, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth and other important cities" the commission said.

"There is constant competition in the markets of Michigan manufacturers wholesalers and jobbers in the cities named with those located at points in Michigan which competition involves passenger travel, interstate and state respectively to and from the various places of business and lower rates in Michigan than in corresponding states for interstate travel, works as a distinct discrimination against these business houses."

Devine Heads New Dollar-a-Week Club

Postmaster W. A. Devine has just received his appointment as local director of Uncle Sam's new Dollar-A-Week club, the most universal organization in the United States. Every man, woman and child is eligible to membership. The aim is 1,000,000 members. The purpose of the club is the creation of $52,000,000 of new capital this year. This is made possible by the new issues of treasury savings securities, in denominations of $1 and $25. A million members, saving systematically, can create this new capital out of current earnings.

WOULD REPEAL UTILITY LAWS

Prescott Measure Aims to Wipe Out All Regulation

Repeal of the railroad and public utility laws was asked by Assemblyman Frank Prescott in a bill offered in the lower house on Wednesday. The Prescott bill would wipe out all regulation. It makes no provision for any other form of regulation.

The assembly by a vote of 30 to 55 refused to suspend the rules for the recall from the committee of the resolution by L. J. Pierson memorializing congress in favor of light wines and beer. The vote is not a clear cut one on the wet and dry issue as many of the wets voted to suspend the rules and some of the drys voted to refuse the request.

When the house convened Pierson asked permission to withdraw the resolution, which is scheduled for a hearing before the assembly state affairs committee Wednesday afternoon. Assemblyman J. C. Hanson asked for the reason. Pierson said that he had asked that consideration of the resolution be delayed and that there had been a suggestion that this "resolution might be used as a club." For that reason he wanted to withdraw it. It requires a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules. The suspension failed 55 ayes to 30 noes.

PHILIPP PORTRAIT STIRS DEBATE IN ASSEMBLY TODAY

Question of Spending $1500 for Painting Arouses Discussion

A debate lasting over three quarters of a hour was occasioned in the assembly Wednesday morning by the question of expending $1,500 to purchase a picture of Ex-Gov. Philipp. The bill was finally ordered to a third reading by a vote of 53 to 41.

"Gov. Philipp did not use one penny of the contingent fund for travelling expenses during the six years of office and for this reason I believe it would only be courtesy to expend this small sum," said Assemblyman W. Ingalls.

"Economy is the thing we must consider," said S. S. Stolowski, Milwaukee," and I for one cannot sanction this expenditure."

Use of the assembly chamber was granted for Wednesday and Thursday evenings for illustrated lectures on marketing by Prof. Theodore Macklin of the university.

A joint resolution was adopted as amended providing for a special legislative investigating committee to hold hearings on fish and game laws at Oshkosh, insofar as they apply to Lakes Winnebago, Butte de Mortes, and their contributaries the Fox and Wolf rivers. The expenses for this investigation are limited to $200.

LLOYD GEORGE SEES BIG PERIL

Premier Declares World Reeling Under Terrible Blow

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—"We are engaged in a terrible task," Premier Lloyd George said in a speech to the Welsh National Liberal council, in which he defended the coalition government and pleaded ardently for a continuation of political unity. "It is something more important than defending myself and my administration."

He asked whether any one could say that the need for unity had passed, and exclaimed:

"I wish to God everybody could, because it worries men; it fills me with dread.

"If someone could tell me that the danger is past, someone with authority, someone with vision, someone whose work we could take, I should be so glad that I would sign my resignation tomorrow."

A world reeling under the most terrible blow ever dealt, was the way he described the situation of today. Gigantic events were in the making, he added, urging that old factional fights among the various parties should not be resurrected until the peril was over.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

DEDICATION BILL TO DIE

Senate Committee Recommends Measure for Killing

There will be no dedication of the state capitol if the legislature follows the committee recommendation which has recommended for death the Staudenmayer bill to appropriate $25,000 for that purpose. The senate state affairs committee favorably recommended the Titus bill for storing farm products, and the Arnold bill for the construction of a horticultural building at the state fair.

Of the 19 bills before the assembly judiciary committee for recommendation, eight were recommended for indefinite postponement. Those unfavorably recommended include the Caldwell bill requiring the actual consideration to be stated in the deed for the sale of real estate; the Mark bill increasing punishment for assault with fire-arm from one to 10 years; the Jordan bill requiring unanimous vote of the supreme court in declaring a law unconstitutional, and the Kiesner joint resolution calling for a constitutional convention. The several bills which were recommended for passage by the assembly judiciary committee related to minor matters.

BADGER WINTERS LOSE TERROR SINCE DAYS OF STATE PIONEERS

Book by Mrs. J. S. Kinzie Describes Rigors of Old-Fashioned Winters in Historic Document

By FRED L. HOLMES

CIVILIZATION has robbed the Wisconsin winter of its terrors. No longer does one read of snow ten feet deep on the level. No longer are the hamlets hemmed in by snow as effectively as if surrounded by an army. No longer is communication with the outside world cut off entirely. Such conditions prevailed in the early days of the territory in Wisconsin. One of the real historic accounts of the rigors of a Wisconsin winter has been left by Mrs. John S. Kinzie, whose book "Wau—Bun" is one of the historical documents of early life in Wisconsin. Her husband was an army officer stationed at Portage, then Fort Winnebago.

Mrs. Kinzie came to Wisconsin in 1830, shipping her household goods down the lakes through Green Bay and up the Fox river. Among her furniture was a piano, the wonder of the entire community. Early the next year she made a plan to visit friends in Chicago. But no woman had made such a long trip in winter. Moreover, the snow was of unheard of depth. In the lead mining district it was five and six feet on the level and Wisconsin territory was experiencing one of the worst winters since inhabited by white men.

Early in March, in spite of the opposition of officers at the fort, Mrs. Kinzie persuaded her husband to make the trip. On their way they were lost but finally discovered the "diggings" of W. S. Hamilton at Wiota, many miles from the direct Chicago route.

Stopped at Hamilton's

To the American boy who had learned that Alexander Hamilton, later shot in a duel by Aaron Burr, gave the United States its sound financial system, a picture of the eastern home of his son in mid winter is of more than passing interest. Mrs. Kinzie has left this historical legacy of their journey in the then wilderness south of Madison.

"Around us was unbroken sheets of snow," said Mrs. Kinzie. "We had no compass, and the air was so obscured by the driving sleet, that it was often impossible to tell in which direction the sun was. Wind and icy particles which filled the air cut like a razor. I suffered intensely from the cold.

"We pursued our way, mile after mile, entering every point of the woods, in hopes of meeting with at least some Indian wigwam at which we could gain intelligence. Every spot was solitary and deserted; not even the trace of a recent fire, to cheer us, with the hope of human beings within miles of us. Suddenly, a shout from the foremost of the party made each heart bound with joy. 'A fence! a fence!' Following the course of the inclosure down the opposite slope, we came upon a group of log cabins, low, shabby and unpromising in their appearance, but a most welcome shelter from the pelting storm. It was Hamilton's. (Wiota Lafayette county.)

"We were shown into a most comfortable looking building. A large fire was burning in the clay chimney. The room was of a genial warmth, notwithstanding the apertures, many inches in width, each side of the doors and windows. A woman in tidy calico dress rose from her seat beside a sort of bread trough, which fulfilled the office of cradle for a fine fat baby.

"Mr. Hamilton hesitated to present himself before me, being unwilling that one who had been acquainted with his family in the east should see him in his present mode of life. However, this feeling apparently wore off, for before dinner he came in and was introduced and was as agreeable and polite as the son of Alexander Hamilton would, naturally be. The housekeeper was the wife of one of the miners.

"The blowing of a horn was the signal for the entrance of ten or twelve miners, who took their places below us at the table. They were the roughest looking set of men I ever beheld.

"Mr. Hamilton spent most of the afternoon with us, the storm raged so without that to proceed on our journey was out of the question. He gave us many pleasant anecdotes and reminiscences of his early life in New York, and of his adventures in the Western wilderness. When obliged to leave us for a while he furnished us with books to read, the most interesting of which was the biography of his father. Could this illustrious man have foreseen what a scene—the dwelling of his son, what would have been his sensations?—this book was to be one day perused.

"The most amusing part of our experience was yet to come. I had been speculating as evening approached on our prospects for the night's accommodation. As our pale, melancholy looking landlady and her fat baby were evidently the only specimens of the feminine gender about the establishment, it was hardly reasonable to suppose that any of the other cabins contained wherewithall to furnish us with a comfortable lodging, and the one in which we were offered nothing of the sort in view but two beds, uncurtained, extended against the farther wall.

"My doubts were after a time resolved by observing the hostess stretch a cord between the two on which she hung some petticoats and extra garments, by way of a partition, after which she invited us to occupy one of them. My only preparation was to wrap my cloak around me and lie down with my face to the wall, but the good people were less ceremonious, for at a distance of scarcely two feet we could not be mistaken in the sound of their garments being, not 'laid aside,' but shipped over the partition wall between us.

"The next day's sun rose bright and clear. Mr. Hamilton kindly offered to accompany up to his next neighbor, a trifling distance of 25 miles. Hamilton led the way."

Col. Hamilton was one of the early southwestern Wisconsin miners and played an important part in the early history of the state. He was a colonel in the Black Hawk war. Shortly thereafter he was visited in his rude hut by his mother and sister of Washington, D. C. They returned home after a short stay in the rude settlement, the aged Mrs. Hamilton finding it "a long and fatiguing journey." During the California gold mining excitement Col. Hamilton went to Sacramenta, where he died of cholera in 1852.

Trainload of Bulls To Replace Scrubs

Pure bred bulls to be traded on even terms for the scrub bulls the farmers of the state along the Burlington road possess, will be sent out on a special train by the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders' association, according to W. L. Houser, president. "When the pure bred animals have been disposed of the scrubs will be sent to the Chicago slaughter house," he said.

TOWNS ADOPT COMFORT LAWS

About 40 Badger Cities Have Comfort Stations, Says Report

The public comfort station law, enacted two years ago, has been complied with in the manner intended by about two score communities of the state, says a report rendered to the state engineering department by Frank R. King, summarizing 1920 activities of the bureau of plumbing and domestic sanitary engineering.

The act applies to about 463 municipalities, and the report shows a large number are selecting sites, making plans or receiving bids.

"In nearly all cases," it is added, "rest rooms also are being considered in this connection."

Discussing the building situation in the state the report observes that the number of new plumbing installations started during the final quarter of 1920 was far below that for the corresponding period of the year before. Information indicates that about 25 per cent of the journeyman plumbers employed in the state during the previous quarter either have left the state or are out of employment. The reduction in installations follows this ratio.

The plumbing inspections during the last quarter numbered 575 and covered 218 communities. Forty-five installations were revoked, a percentage of 7.8 per cent, believed to set a new low record.

The following places were reported as having sewer systems under construction: Amery, Augusta, Colby, Durand, Stratford, Viroqua, and Waterloo. Water supply systems were being constructed at Rio, Stratford and Viroqua. Sewerage systems were contemplated at Abbotsford, Cedarburg, Chetek, Cumberland, Ellsworth, Juneau, Onalaska, Rib Lake, St. Croix Falls, Spooner and other places.

COURT TO DECIDE GARAGE DIFFICULTY

Tenth Ward Residents to Bring Suit to Prevent Building

Court action ill be taken to prevent William F. Clark from building a garage on the corner of Spooner St. and W. Lawn Ave., near Monroe St., according to Frank W. Lucas, who is representing residents of the tenth ward who object to the garage. The city planning commission decided at a meeting Tuesday evening that it had no authority to prohibit or interfere with the building, and Building Commissioner Philip Dean granted a building permit to Mr. Clark Wednesday morning.

At the hearing Tuesday evening Mr. Lucas declared that the deed of a former owner of the land had a clause restricting the building of a garage on the property. M. W. Torkelson also spoke. Carl N. Hill, representing Mr. Clark, declared that the present title has no clause prohibiting erection of a garage.

J. Q. Emery Takes Charge of Office

State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. Q. Emery took charge of his office on Tuesday after an absence from the office of six years. Mr. Emery spent the day familiarizing himself with the general office organization. George J. Weigle, who has acted as dairy and food commissioner for the past six years, has been chosen president of a wholesale drug concern in Madison.

Wilson to Rest for Six Months, Plan

WASHINGTON — Pres. Wilson plans to go into virtual seclusion after March 4, for about six months for intensive rest.

MODEST GIRL IS NOT EXTINCT, IS EXPERT'S VERDICT

Mrs. Martha P. Falconer.

"The girl of today is too often misunderstood," is the opinion of Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, director of the social protective measures department of the American Social Hygiene Association, New York, and nationally known because of her work as former head of the Pennsylvania state reformatory for girls. She denies that the modern girl has stepped so far from maidenly conduct and modest demeanor that she cannot return.

MRS. BABCOCK'S TROUBLES OVER SHE DECLARES

Huron Woman Says Tanlac Has Restored Her Health After Five Years' Suffering

"I have heard a great many good things about Tanlac," said Mrs. J. M. Babcock, 310 Dakota Ave., Huron, S. D., "and since the medicine has restored my health in the wonderful way it has I believe them all.

"The five years previous to the time I got Tanlac was a period of almost unbroken suffering for me. My stomach was so disordered that I suffered terribly from indigestion after every meal. My nerves were so out of order that I never got any refreshing sleep, I had dreadful headaches and couldn't stoop over without my head swimming so I nearly fell down. I was just completely run-down, had no strength or energy whatever and felt that I would give anything on earth for something to build me up.

"But my first bottle of Tanlac made a wonderful improvement in my condition, and as I went on taking it I seemed to be getting new health and strength with every dose. Today the last one of my ailments has disappeared. I eat heartily, sleep soundly, and feel splendid, and can get about my work as spry as a girl. After my experience I am more than glad to speak a good word for Tanlac."

LENT OBSERVED BY CATHOLICS

Special Services Are Held in Churches Commemorating Fast of Christ

With the beginning of lent today, special services are being held in all Catholic churches and in a number of protestant ones as well. Commemorative of the fast of Christ, the lenten period is marked by abstainence from a number of indulgences ordinarily a part of the day's activities. Lent continues until Easter Sunday, March 27.

Both early morning and evening masses are celebrated in Catholic churches. Beginning Sunday, stations of the cross will be held and the churches will designate the days for their special services which include sermons, benediction and miserere. Special children's services are to be held as well as courses for instruction of converts.

During lent, abstinence from all food until the evening is required on fast days except for working people, who must have sustenance. Meat is forbidden on Wednesday and Friday of the first week and beginning the second week it is also not eaten on Saturdays. Working people, however, are required to refrain only on Fridays.

All forms of public amusement, the celebration of birthdays and marriages are not permissible during this period. Alms giving is to be encouraged at this time as a part of the observations.

Beginning tonight at 8 lenten services will be conducted at Luther Memorial church by Rev. A. J. Soldan, each Wednesday evening as follows: Tonight, Christ's Agony in Gothsemane; February 16, The Capture of Christ; February 23, Christ Sentenced to Death by the Church; March 2, Christ Sentenced to Death by Pilate; March 9, The Crucifixion of Our Lord; March 16, the Crucified Lord.

FORD RUN 34 MILES ON GALLON GASOLINE

Start Easy in Coldest Weather—Other Cars Show Proportionate Saving.

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air-Friction Carburetor Co, 756 Madison St., Dayton, Ohio. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of all motors from 30 to 50 per cent, but enables every one to run slow on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather. You can use the very cheapest grade of gasoline or half gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. Many Ford owners say they now get as high as 45 to 50 miles to a gallon of gasoline. So sure are the manufacturers of the immense saving their new carbureter will make that they offer to send it on 30 days' trial to every car owner. As it can be put on or taken off in a few minutes by anyone, all readers of this paper who want to try it should send their name, address and make of car to the manufacturers at once. They also want local agents, to whom they offer exceptionally large profits. Write them today.—Advertisement.

SOCIETY

With the opening of the Lenten season the majority of Madison social activities have ceased though small informal affairs will continue. The university parties and dinner dances preceding prom and continuing over the week end promise to be the brightest events during this season.

WOMEN MEN ADMIRE

Men admire a pretty face, a good figure, but most of all the happy, healthy, contented woman, as beauty fades and the figure will change. Women who are troubled with backache, headaches, those dreadful dragging sensations, and nervous irritability, cannot hope to be popular, and advancement in either home, business or social life is impossible. The cause of these troubles, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is a natural restorative for such conditions, and dispels effectually all those distressing symptoms.—Adv.

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

In the collection of edibles piled under the old oak tree were ears of corn the hogs had brought, bunches of clover the cows had carried, spears of mint that the sheep had brought from the side of the brook, bunches of turnips and carrots carried by the goats, long whisps of timothy, hay the horses had donated, a long wriggling angleworm which an old hen was allowed to eat undisturbed, since she had brought it, and no one else cared even to taste, being willing to take her word for its being sweet and juicy. Neither was there any dispute over the grasshoppers the turkeys had collected; and as for the mouse the owl had brought, none wanted it but the cat, and he climbed the tree and shared this dainty tidbit with the owl, both declaring it fine, while they conversed upon the best methods of catching mice.

The setting moon now warned them that it was time to say "Good-night," and for Nannie and Billy to depart if they wished to reach the farm where Day lived before sunrise.

After much rubbing of noses (in lieu of kisses, handshakes and good-byes), and a last long drink from the brook, Billy and Nannie slipped through the pasture fence, where there was a board off, out into the highroad, and commenced their long journey toward the west. They turned and bobbed their heads up and down every once in a while to a long row of heads that were sticking through and over the fence rails, until they came to a turn in the road, which hid them from view. Just before reaching this they both turned and bleated out a last "good-bye," which was answered in chorus by all the animals that stood watching them off, and the sound of the donkeys' brays, the horses' whinnies, the cows' low bellowings, the sheep's bleatings, the roosters' crowing, the hens' cacklings and the owls' hoots, all discerently pitched and of various qualities of tone, was like a brass band playing out of tune, or an orchestra, with instruments played upon by lunatics.

"Well! They certainly gave us a fine send-off," said Billy to Nannie as they trotted along side by side.

"Indeed they did, but I rather wish it had not been quite so fine for I have eaten so much that I feel much more like lying down and sleeping than walking all night."

Nothing of any interest happened until they were passing a farmhouse close to the road, when a big St. Bernard dog, nearly as large as a calf, came bounding over the fence toward them. He scared timid Nannie nearly to death, especially as he jumped between her and Billy, who was a little in advance of her. He pushed her against the fence and tried to take a bite out of her, and when she saw his big red mouth open she shut her eyes and her heart seemed to stand still in expectation of the pain she would feel when his sharp teeth buried themselves in her flesh. Fortunately for her he was toothless from age and all he did was to pull out a mouthful of hair.

Billy heard Nannie's bleat of distress and turned just in time to see the dog bury its fangs, as he supposed, in Nannie's hip. Though he was several paces ahead, it took but two bounds to bring him to Nannie's side, and in his fury at seeing her hurt he ran his sharp horns through the dog, killing him so quickly that he never knew what hurt him.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman with seven children. I have always been happy until just recently, and now I have discovered that my husband is in love with my sister who is younger and prettier than I.

I have always worked hard and tried to be a good wife to my husband. He has never given me any trouble about drinking, although he won't go to church, as I want him to.

He and I have never even quarreled about anything, except that I've always tried to make him appreciate music and art, but he won't. He isn't very careful about his personal appearance, although we now have plenty of money. His table manners are not at all what they should be either.

Still he is the father of my children and they and I love him. I want him back. What shall I do?

MRS. J. M. C.

A problem like yours always works out for the best if it is let alone. I hardly believe that your sister will care for your husband for any length of time, and when her interest dies she will not permit his attentions. When she refuses to show any interest in him, he will not care so much for her and will turn back to you, the woman he has loved all the time. It may take an experience like this to teach him that the more he sees of other women, the more he cares for you.

My advice is to be brave and have patience and trust that a higher power will aid you.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Yesterday afternoon two girl friends and I went out for a walk along the highway. There were a number of boys in town and when they saw us three of the boys started out walking in our direction. They overtook up and spoke to us because they were not well-bred boys. They must have been under the impression that they could join us.

They were total strangers to me, although my two friends had seen them before and also knew where they came from. We were the longest time getting rid of them.

Was not that an insult for them to walk and speak with us?

What could we have said in a few words to them in a way they would take it serious when we told them to "beat it"?

I THANK YOU.

In such a situation, your manner would mean more than anything you could say. If you absolutely ignored the insult and went on your way without noticing the boys, they would understand that they were rebuked. "I think you have made a mistake," would have been an answer with more dignity than to tell them to "beat it."

* * *

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman of twenty-four and have one little girl of four who is all the world to me. I have my second husband and I cannot say he is cruel to us, but he acts so queer when in the house, never talks, always pouts. He is a lazy man, dislikes work and we have no money saved or any furniture of our own. I have a small bank account of my own. Would I be doing right by not taking the money out? Or should I spend all my earnings which I saved years ago?

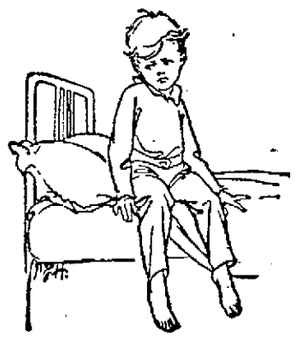

I like fine clothes and long to see my daughter dressed well. But such as the circumstances are, I cannot have them. Would you advise me to keep house or clerk so as to make some money for myself and babe? I like my husband in a way, but I could live without him.

MAY APPLE.

You should not use a cent of your bank account, unless your husband becomes physically unable to work and support you. If your husband learns to depend upon money you can furnish, he will grow more and more good-for-nothing. Unless he will brace up and do his duty to you and your little girl, I think you would be happier keeping house for someone and earning money at the same time. If you took a position as housekeeper you could have your little girl with you, which seems preferable to clerking in my opinion. It will do your husband good to see that he cannot impose upon you indefinitely. Let him understand that when he can provide a home you will return.

FOR FISH DAY

Fried Smelts—To clean smelts open outer gills and with the forefinger take hold of the inner gills and pull gently. The parts unfit for food are all attached to these inner gills and come away together, leaving the smelt in perfect shape. Rinse thoroughly and wipe dry. If smelts are small dip in milk and roll in flour or in egg and bread-crumbs. Fry in deep fat.

Fish Timbales—One cup fish, one cup mashed potatoes, one egg, salt, one cup softened bread crumbs, one-quarter cup milk and one-eighth teaspoon paprika.

Combine the ingredients in the order given. Pour the mixture into small well oiled moulds and cook either in a steamer or on a rack in a pan, surrounding the moulds one-third of the way up with hot water. Cover each mould with waxed paper and tie it securely with string if there is any danger of the tops coming loose. Steam until the mixture is firm. Serve with egg sauce.

Fish Salad—Break fish into small pieces, marinate with French dressing. It may be combined with diced celery or with shredded cabbage. Mix with a little mayonnaise serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise on top and garnish with lemon and parsley. Sliced hard-boiled eggs, peas, nuts or green peppers may be combined with fish. Boiled dressing may be used in place of mayonnaise.

Planked Fish—Fasten the fish, cleaned, skin side down, on a heated hardwood plank. Brush over with melted fat and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in hot oven, basting frequently. When the fish is cooked surround with a border of duchess potatoes, shaping by means of a pastry bag and star tube. Brush the potatoes over with beaten egg yolks mixed with an equal quantity of milk. Let brown in the oven and serve with maitre d'hotel sauce. Garnish with lemon and parsley.

Dressing for Baked Fish—One and one-quarter cups bread crumbs, one-third teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, two teaspoons of chopped parsley, two teaspoons of onion junice, two tablespoons melted shortening, one-half teaspoon of mixed seasoning (thyme and sweet marjoram).

Soften the bread crumbs in hot water. Add the seasoning, then the melted shortening.

TASTY SAUCES

Foamy Sauce—Beat the whites of two eggs stiff and mix with cup of granulated sugar. Beat again and add the juice of a good sized lemon. Mix this in, add a cup of boiling milk and serve at once.

Diplomatic Sauce—Boil two cups of water with one cup sugar until they are well mixed, but not a syrup. Thicken with flour, mixed smooth in a little cold water. Simmer until clear and then add half a cup of red wine or the same amount of fruit juice—strawberry, raspberry, grape or red plum juice—and the juice of half a lemon. Sprinkle in a bit of mace and serve.

Milwaukee Loses $5,500 Damage Suit

The city of Milwaukee on Tuesday lost its case in the supreme court against the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Co. by which the city attempted to escape from paying for electric current furnished to operate the drawbridges and the lighting of Lake Park on the ground that the franchise granted these privileges.

Milwaukee Loses; Light Concern Wins

Frank J. Klosky of Milwaukee lost his claim for $5,500 damages against the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul Railway Company in the Wisconsin Supreme Court on Tuesday. The court found that the railings and approaches to the depot at West Allis were safe.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. George Claridge Saturday afternoon.

Eruptions of the Skin Cause Torturous Itching

If you are afflicted with any form of skin disorder, you are well acquainted with the flaming, burning itching that these diseases produce.

So many people continue to suffer from eczema, tetter, and other forms of skin disease because they do not seek the source of their suffering, and no disease can be successfully combatted unless attacked at its source.

Skin diseases are caused by an impurity or disorder in the blood, and there is no real and genuine relief within your reach until such impurities are removed.

This explains why disappointment comes from the use of lotions, salves, ointments and other local remedies.

S. S. S. has given great satisfaction in the treatment of these disorders, because it is such a thoroughly satisfactory blood purifier. It cleanses the blood of all impurities, and thus counteracts the effects of the germs that attack the skin.

Begin taking S. S. S. today, and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical adviser will give you expert advice without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 822 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.

TOO GOOD TO MISS

Badger Tossers Confident Of Victory Over Invading Purple Quint

TEAM EXPECTS TO WIPE OUT FIRST DEFEAT

Second Meeting of Year Finds Varsity in Better Trim

BY I. H. PETERSON.

High hopes of a decisive victory over the Purple basketball team are held by university sport fans as the game next Saturday night draws near. Both Coach Meanwell and the team feel confident that the Methodist tossers will receive a different decision from the one-point win with which they escaped the first time the tives met.

Although no eligibility returns are as yet available, indications are that all of the squad is over the lines and able to play. This matter will however be definitely known by Friday.

Northwestern at present occupies the bottom of the conference standings, but with both teams rested up after the semester exam layoff, it is almost certain that a hot, fast game is assured the fans. Wisconsin will put a far different five against the Evanstonians than that which opened the season, for whereas it was then their first conference game in which to use the short pass, the games since have developed this part of the play to such an extent as to make an altogether changed team.

None of the cagers will take in the Prom, according to a well founded report. Complete rest has been prescribed for them on that particular evening by the coach in view of the game the next night.

Following the Purple encounter, a strenuous week of practice is scheduled to get the men in shape for the road trip which includes games with Illinois and Ohio State. The Suekers will probably put up the hardest opposition of the year, for in addition to being on their home floor, they have lately received the valuable assistance of Carney, star football end, and brilliant basketeer on the last year's team. His playing in the Purdue and Ohio games alone was the outstanding feature of these two victories. If the Badgers can eke out a win over the Illini they should have no trouble with the Ohioans who fell before the former Monday night by a 46 to 11 score.

ZBYSZKO EASILY ROUTS CUTLER IN MILWAUKEE BOUT

Polish Star Beats Veteran Chicago Matman in 2 Straight Falls

MILWAUKEE — Stanislaus Zbyszko, the Polish star put all championship thoughts out of Charley Cutler's head at the Auditorium, Tuesday night by throwing the veteran Chicago matman in two straight falls. Charley, a huge bundle of muscle covered by generous layers of fat was no match for the Polish wizard. He did not appear to be in the best of shape but even had he been at the top of his form, it is doubtful whether he could have done anything with Zbyszko. The Pole was the aggressor throughout the bout, which was a fast affair for big men.

The first fall came after forty-three minutes and fifty seconds of grappling, the Pole pinning Cutler to the mat with a double wristlock. Cutler claimed he hurt his arm but came out for the second bout, which lasted only six minutes and thirty seconds, Zbyszko scoring a flying fall.

The best bout of the night was the opener between Ben Stefanski the crack Polish middleweight and Swede Peterson. Stefanski won the bout in twenty-two minutes with a body scissors and wristlock but Peterson gave him a tough battle, and several times had his opponent in a dangerous position.

Trans-Atlantic Yacht Race Starters Asked

NEW YORK—Baron De Cartier, Belgian ambassador, in letters to the commodores of three American yacht clubs made public by him here today, asked that a representative from each club be named on the starting committee for the proposed trans-Atlantic yacht race next summer. The baron suggested that the chairman of the race committee of each club be named. King Albert has offered a gold cup trophy for the winner of the race from Sandy Hook to Ostend, Belgium, the start to be made July 4 next.

Middleton Quint Beats Muscoda 22-26

Middleton High's basketball team took a fall out of the Muscoda High team last night, 26 to 22. The game was played on the Muscoda floor.

Busch of the victors proved the big star of the game, getting 18 of his teams 26 points. The Middleton five now has won 6 games and lost 2.

Cutbill Beats Joie Ray in Feature Race

NEW YORK—Hal C. Cutbill of the Boston A. A. won the feature track event, the Rodman Wanamaker invitation scratch run at 1½ miles at the annual indoor games of the Millrose A. A. in Madison Square Garden last night. Joie Ray of the Illinois A. C., Chicago, who had won this event each year since 1917, and holds the record for it of 6:46 3-5, finished second, ten yards behind Cutbill, while J. J. Connolly of Georgetown University was third.

FENCES FIXED FOR BABE RUTH

Yanks Owners Make Park Suit Bambino's Big Bat

NEW YORK—The home run average of "Babe" Ruth, who acquired the much chronicled habit of knocking the ball into the right field stands at the Polo grounds, will not suffer from a shifting of scenes when the Yankees move into their new field in the Bronx.

The stands in the new Yankee stadium will be, in distance from the plate, similar to those of the Polo grounds, Col. T. L. Houston, part owner of the Yankees, said today.

His announcement allayed the fears of enthusiasts that "Babe" would have to put more power behind his drives.

St. Paul Bowlers Out After Invaders

ST. PAUL—Crack Bowlers of the Twin Cities set out today to shoot at the top marks held by outsiders at the tournament of the International bowling Association here. It was the sixth day of the annual classic and only local men were scheduled to roll.

The annual business meeting of the I. B. A. will be held next Tuesday, when officers will be elected and a place for the 1922 tourney selected.

Judeans and Cards Win in Fast Games

The Madison Judea Athletic club, in a fast game last night, featured by the basket throwing of S. Epstein and Shapiro, nosed out the Little Giants at the Lowell school gym, 22 to 17. The Little Giants held the lead when the first half ended, 14 to 8. Ragatz, righ forward for the losers, made five baskes and three free throws for his team.

In the second game the C[illegible]ls defeated the Toggery Shop[illegible] to 16.

Twin City Hockeyists To Settle Supremacy

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Minneapolis and St. Paul are to settle their hockey differences if another two game series can accomplish that end. They will meet next Monday and Tuesday nights. The previous two game series ended in one victory for each team.

WRESTLERS BAR STRANGLE HOLD

Prehn and Meyers Agree to Bar Choke Grip Only Feb. 18

CHICAGO—Paul Prehn, University of Illinois wrestling instructor, and Johnny Meyers, who meet for the middleweight championship at the Coliseum on Feb. 18, have agreed to bar only the strangle-hold. Although efforts have been made by the fans to have the head lock and double wrist lock barred, Promoter Krone yesterday asserted both wrestlers want to use all holds and for this reason no grips will be tabooed.

Football Play Best Sporting Event--Schalk

By RAY SCHALK
White Sox Catcher

To my mind the most remarkable sporting event I ever saw was not in a baseball game, but at Stagg Field, when Minnesota played the Maroons the Fall of 1917 (as I recall the date). The forward passing of Pudge Wyman, the Gopher back, and the catching of Bert Baston, the end were superb. Wyman seemed able to throw the football, straight and on a line, fifty or sixty yards, and Baston would pick them out of the aid while surrounded by Maroons. They kept making them, showing it was no fluke, but well planned and executed. A catcher could not throw a baseball more accurately than Wyman did that football.

Track Men Answer Call at Evanston

EVANSTON—The initial call for varsity track candidates at Northwesterday Univ. yesterday was answered by thirty men. Coach Ray Edler expressed himself as dissatisfied with the number of candidates. It is the belief of the coach that fifty men will be necessary to turn out a winning squad. The following men from last year's team reported: Capt. Robert Townley, shot-putter; Virgil Gordon, sprinter; Armand Blocki, H. Young and Stevenson, distance runners, and Smothers, high jumper.

Almost 1,000 Teams Entered in A. B. C.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Secretary A. L. Langtry of the American Bowling congress, who arrived yesterday to establish headquarters of the 1921 tournament, predicted the event will be the largest ever held. Langtry has the entries of 600 five-man teams outside of this city, while the local bowling association claims to have over 300 teams in line. The congress opens Feb. 28 and closes March 31.

Varsity Cubs Fall Before Speths Juniors

Speth's Juniors defeated the Varsity Cubs Monday at the South Madison school gym in a thrilling basketball fray, 18 to 15. Though the half ended 9 to 4 in the victor's favor, there were many times when the battle was much closer.

MILWAUKEE—Again Milwaukee bowlers take the lead.

Gus Jones and Fred Grossman hit the old pins with great accuracy Tuesday night and in so doing marked up a score of 1,240 in the doubles event and took the lead by a narrow margin of two pins.

Both Jones and Grossman did exceedingly well in all three games marking up games of 615 and 625 respectively. Their first game was a 433 counter and the best of the trio. They fell down in the second with 378 and came back in the third with 419.

Their scores are as follows:

F. Grossman	222	198	205—	625
G. Jones	221	180	214—	651
	443	378	419—	1240

Taking the lead was in doubt until Grossman rolled the last ball in the third game, when he needed an eight count with a spare up to take the lead. Although the ball went true for the one-three pocket, the pins dropped in wabbly fashion and for a moment it seemed he would get only seven, but the blocking of the wood was good and two more finally dropped.

Long Distance Hockey Features at Green Bay

GREEN BAY, Wis.—A record for long distance playing in hockey is believed to have been established when two local teams played four regulation hockey games, two 20-minute extra periods and 17 periods of five minutes' duration without scoring. This is a little better than two hours of actual play without a score.

MORAN FIGURES PITCHER RIXEY'S WORTH AS MUCH AS TWO WORLD'S SERIES VETS

The recent deal whereby the Cinci Reds swapped Pitcher Ring and Outfielder Neale to the Phils for Pitcher Eppa Rixey is interesting when one considers that Jimmy Ring was a hero of the Reds' 1919 world's series victory and Neale another star in that championship outfit. Rixey's work hasn't attracted much notice, partly because a poor team behind him failed to give him opportunities for showing his real worth.

WHICH OF THE NEW MANAGERS WILL SUCCEED, WHICH FAIL?

Seven major league clubs will be led by new pilots when the old John lid flies off next April. Four will be seen in the American and three in the National. And fandom has plenty of food for discussion in trying to dope out which ones will deliver and which ones will be asked to vacate after failing to come through. Cobb's advent is the most interesting change.

MARKETS

WHEAT PRICES DECLINE TODAY

Profit-Taking on Part of Buyers Causes Sharp Drop

CHICAGO—Profit-taking on the part of some of yesterday's buyers disclosed a lack of support in the wheat market today and prices underwent a material decline. Bears meanwhile circulated messages from the southwest making light of talk about crop damage from green bugs. It was said to be too early to take serious reports except at a heavy discount. Opening prices which ranged from ¾c to 2c lower with March 1.60½@¾ and May 1.51¼@¾ were followed by moderate gains and then by downturns lower than before.

Subsequently buying that was attributed to eastern shorts and to the northwest led to upturns. Predictions of a general strike in Argentina counted also in favor of the bulls. Prices closed unsettled, 1½ cents net lower to ½ cent advance with March 1.62 to ¼ and May 1.52@¼.

Corn.

Corn gave way with wheat. After opening ⅛@½c down, including May 67@⅝, the market reacted a little and then sagged again.

Prices recovered later when wheat showed an advance but the effect was only transient. The close was easy, ½@⅞c net lower.

Oats.

Oats were weak as a consequence of the action of other grain, starting unchanged to ⅛c off, May 43⅞ and continuing to decline.

Provisions.

Provisions reflected the downward tendency of cereals.

STOCK MARKET IS UNCERTAIN

Changes Are Mainly Upward at Outset of Dealings

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK—At the opening of today's stock market was dull and uncertain in striking contrast to the spirited rally which accompanied yesterday's final dealings. Changes were mainly upward, however, Crucible, American Tobacco and Texas Pacific soon showing one point gains. Trifling reactions marked the early offerings of Mexican Petroleum, Bethlehem Steel and several of the eastern railroads, notably the coal group.

Steels, oils and specialties registered their highest prices in the afternoon but profit taking cancelled many gains in the final dealings. The closing was easy.

SHE TEACHES "RIGHT LIVING" FOR STATE

Dr. Alice L. Goetz.

Dr. Alice L. Goetz of Santa Barbara, Cal., fills the unique position of educational hygiene specialist working under the social hygiene bureau of the California state board of health. She lectures to mothers to give proper training and instruction to their children in regard to the preservation of their health. She also addresses working men and women in stores and plants as well as clubs regarding "right living." Dr. Goetz is the only woman on the Pacific coast engaged in such work.

COUNTESS, ONCE PAINTER TO CZAR, NOW IN AMERICA

Countess Marie de Gradowsky.

Countess Gradowsky, the famous Russian portrait painter, has many memories of the Russian court, where she was portrait painter to the czar. With the coming of the revolution she was driven from her home and is now in New York supporting herself and a sixteen-year-old son by portrait painting. She is starting her career anew in a strange land, although she is past middle age.

Coal Profiteering

Senator La Follette's Committee Reveals Profits Ranging From 35 to 200 Per Cent. Will Only Freezing and Starving Show the People in What Direction Relief May be Found.

"I'M tired of hearing these harrowing stories about profiteering," said a well known reactionary the other day, "of course, everybody knows there were big profits made during the war, but the war has been over quite some time, and big business is making small profits these days."

Let us see about this. An Associated Press dispatch tells us that the senate committee, of which Senator La Follette is chairman, which is investigating the profits of the coal mining companies finds that some of them made as much as 200 per cent on their investments DURING 1920.

One corporation, on a total investment of $178,000 mined 122,000 tons of coal in the first nine months of 1920, on which its profit was $178,000.

Another corporation with an investment of $163,000 made $133,000 in nine months of 1920, or a profit of 109 per cent on its capital. Still another with $1,428,000 invested made $716,000 during the same period, a rate of 67 per cent. In 1919 the same company's profits were 30 per cent.

The lowest profit among the 21 corporations which were investigated was 35 per cent for the year 1920.

M. W. Bowen, assistant to Admiral W. S. Benson, chairman of the Shipping Board testified that during 1920 the board had been charged as high as $19 a ton for "bunker coal."

Why should such an enormous profit be permitted on one of the essentials of life? Some have thought that the unprecedented prices for coal this winter were caused by the high price of labor, but the revelations at Washington show that the railroad companies, and the mine owners are responsible for these prices.

Not long ago there were howls of protest because the miners had the impudence to demand a 30 hour week, and then we discover that the miners are asking for LONGER hours of work than the bosses had permitted them during the year.

A large number of the corporations investigated by Senator La Follette's committee are operating in West Virginia where a state of war existed for many months, and which originated from the determination of the mining corporations to break up the miners' union, and get labor at lower prices.

The investigation has shown that the price of coal for export has been as high as $14.50, but recently declined to about $3.50. And then the operator said that it would be UNPROFITABLE for them to continue to mine coal at all for a price less than $3.00.

Senator Calder of New York who has never been known as a radical, has been converted, by the revelations of the Senate Committee, to the policy of government control of the coal mines.

And the senate committee has reported:

"Our investigation into the coal situation has convinced us that private interests now in control of the production and distribution of coal, (in spite of the efforts of some) are actually unable to prevent a continuance or repetition of the present deplorable situation, and that it is the duty of the government to take such reasonable and practical steps as it may to remedy the evil."

While government control of mines and railroads could eliminate enormous waste in the handling of coal, which is one of the prime necessities of our economic life, yet government ownership would make possible many additional economies.

The Press Service Company of New York has been conducting a questionnaire, to find out how the people feel about government ownership. And who did they send the questionnaire to? To the editors of NEWSPAPERS, most of them CONTROLLED by the railroads, the coal mining interests, and similar beneficiaries of privilege.

But suppose the questionnaire had been sent out to 5,000 representative farmers, or to 5,000 representative wage-workers, what would have been the answer?

Still it is true there IS a strong sentiment against public ownership. We must freeze and starve and suffer considerably more before we can SEE.

But the lower house in Nebraska a few days ago memorialized congress demanding government ownership and operation of the nation's coal mines.

SLOW AMERICA

The American people like to think of themselves as progressive and quick to take up new ideas. Yet it does seem to take a tremendous lot of agitation to get necessary changes adopted.

Here for a century the United States has made it a practice to elect a president in November, and not put him to work until March. Over in little Finland, which has recently secured its independence, they inaugurate the president the day after he is elected and he immediately goes to work.

In this country public business is held up for four months by our antiquated system. It is particularly distressing at a period of world strain, when the new administration should be applying remedies for existing troubles. This is a big country and time is required to get in returns and settle disputes. But the new president should be at work 60 days after election at most, and after the country has tried a 60 days period, it would probably wish it had made it 30 days.

PUZZLED PEDDLER

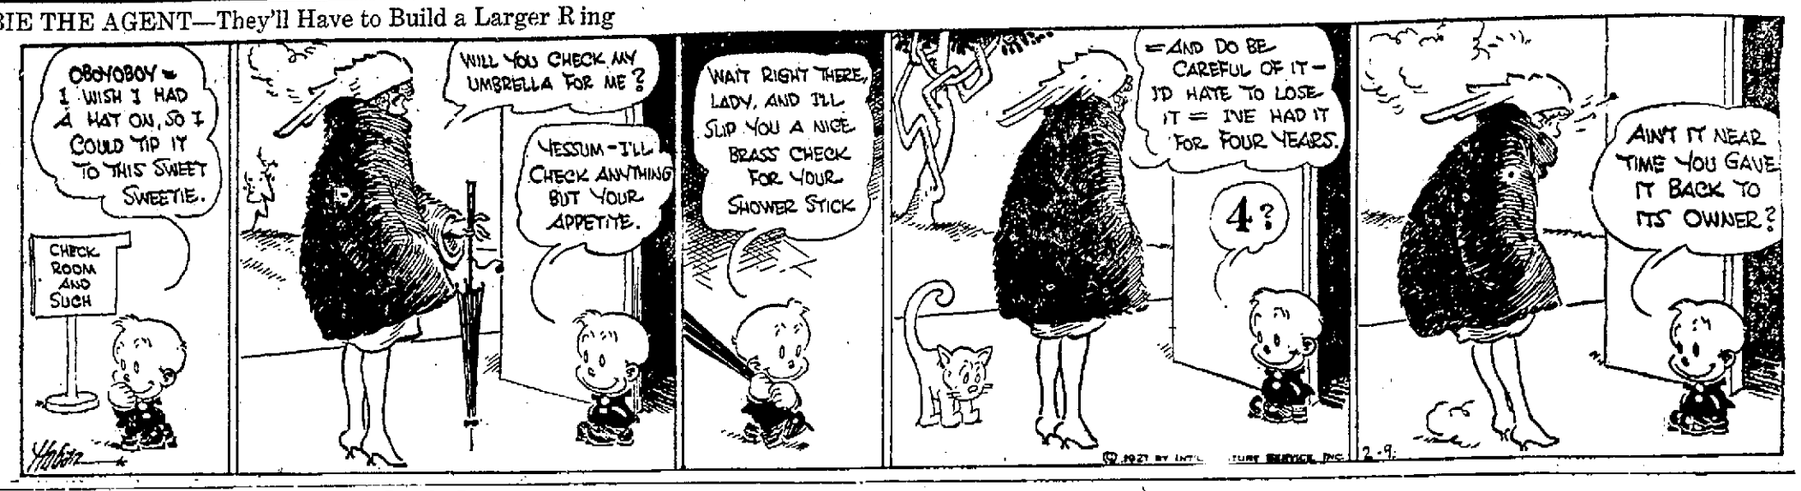

An aged peddler of Berkeley, Cal., told that he had inherited one million dollars from a relative, said only:

"This puzzles me."

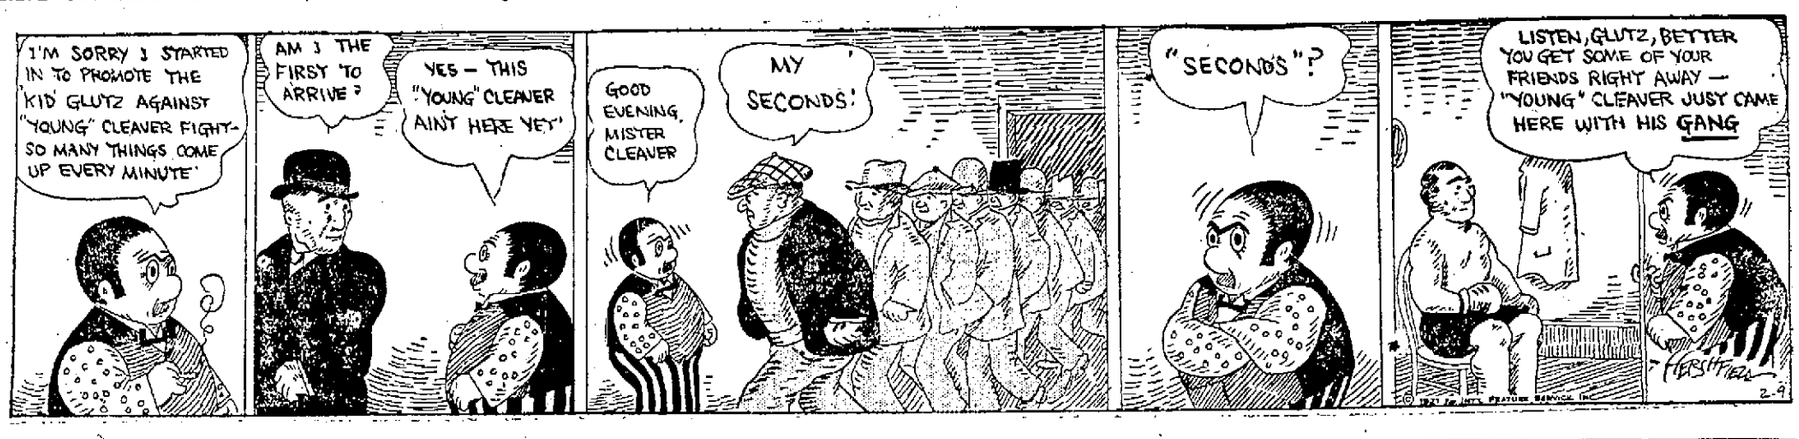

Well it may, for as men get old they ought to realize that money is the least of things, except just enough of it to keep away absolute poverty that means slavery.

Many men now striving for their million will wonder, before they die, and perhaps after it, why they worked so hard for what can do them so little good.—Arthur Brisbane in Wisconsin News.

SHOULD MR. WILSON BE IMPEACHED?

To the Editor of The Capital Times:

When Mr. Wilson returned from Paris with his treaty and League, he told Congress that he had no material interest in the war. "We entered the war," he said, "because we saw the supremacy of right put in jeopardy." What does Mr. Wilson mean by the "supremacy of right?" Does he mean the sway of the British empire which certainly was in jeopardy when we went to its rescue? Are the autrocities of the Black and Tans in Ireland, the shooting of mothers with babes in their arms, the burning of people in their homes, the deliberate policy to exterminate the Irish race in Ireland, and the serfdom and ignorance of three hundred and fifteen million people of India in bondage—are these included in that supremacy of right that we saved from jeopardy?

In fine terms Mr. Wilson assured the world of an "honorable peace, just even to those with whom we did not wish to be just." After two years of that peace there are millions of hungry victims calling for charity. While the big heart of America is responding nobly, our late associates in the war are taking out from a hunger-stricken land the milch cows so badly needed to keep its starving children alive! Eight hundred thousand milch cows taken away where children die of hunger!

And under that peace transacted at Versailles black negro troops recruited from savage Africa are now occupying the Rhineland, and a helpless people under the power of French martial law must provide brothels, and white women are made the victims of black bruits. Is this also the supremacy of right and the honorable and just peace of which Mr. Wilson spoke and which we were asked to ratify and guarantee? In the face of this crime against white womanhood and the white race that cries to high heaven, why are ye silent, ye men of the cloth who resoluted so loudly to put our country into the foreign entanglement which would make us the guarantor of a treaty under which white women are now paying indemnity to vengeance?

Mr. Wilson sat in that conference and helped to make the treaty of Versailles. We are told he was more tiger than Clemenceau and more Welsh than Lloyd George. So different were the fine professions of the President for the American people from his actions behind the closed doors of Versailles that six of his chosen assistants resigned. One of them, Mr. Wm. C. Bullitt, in his letter of resignation to the President, wrote: "I am one of millions who believed you would make nothing less than a permanent peace based on unselfish, unbiased justice. But you have consented now to deliver the suffering peoples of the world to new oppressions, subjections and dismemberments—a new century of war. Therefore the duty of the United States to its own people and to mankind is to refuse to sign this unjust treaty; refuse to guarantee its settlements by entering the League of Nations, and refuse to entangle the United States further by an understanding with France."

At The Theaters

At the Grand— Making believe you are married to a man who is not your husband is mighty dangerous business, even if you have the best of intentions. Constance Talmadge demonstrates some of the things that may happen to you in her latest picture "Dangerous Business" which is running at the Grand and which will close there today. In this picture Connie finds herself in a peck of trouble as a result of her rash statements, bnt leave it to Constance to extricate herself from any kind of difficulty.

At the Majestic—"Make Yourself at Home" which the Milton Schuster Musical Comedy Company is now offering patrons at the Majestic will remain until Wednesday evening, Thursday the company will offer another Broadway success entitled "The Broadway Limited" with all new scenery, costumes and songs. Three shows will be given daily.

At The Fuller — Henry B. Walthall, known nationally as an American screen star is to present a new comedy stage production entitled "Taken In," tonight at the Fuller Theatre. This simple announcement will awaken anticipations of pleasure in the minds of countless theatre-goers for reasons too numerous to enumerate in space of small compass. It seems late in the day to speak of Mr. Walthall as being the most popular movie player in America. There is no gainsaying that he stands in a class all by himself as an interpretative actor of the higher lights and shadings of the amusement profession.

At the Orpheum — Dorothy Van, Frank Ellis, Al Garbelle and company are delighting the large audiences at the Orpheum the first half of this week, with their offering "Flirtation," a comedy of youth sprinkled with music and dancing, other features of interest on this bill, which will be offered for the last three times, today, matinee at 3 o'clock, evening at 7:15 and 9 o'clock, are Ray W. Snow, the Man About Town, assisted by Narine, in songs and patter; Cheyenne Days, a round-up of thrills and laughs; Johnny Johnston, The Poet and the Peasant; Ferguson and Francis, offering popular songs; Harris and Harris refined equilibrists and Kinogram and Topics of the Day pictures.

At The Strand

THOMAS MEIGHAN in 'CIVILIAN CLOTHES' A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

At the Strand — Thomas Meighan's first Paramount starring vehicle is "Civilian Clothes," produced by Hugh Ford from Thompson Buchanan's popular stage play of the same name. The picture will be shown at the Strand Theatre for four days starting today. Mr. Meighan's supporting company includes Martha Mansfield, the beautiful heroine of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and other screen notables. "The Cloud," a marvel of scenic splendor, and a comedy cartoon will be the added attractions.

On The Side

A MODERN NOVELETTE.

(By S'teve Post.)

He and her sat opposite each other, a narrow cafe table between them. The place was crowded.

Hollingsworth admired her immensely and his eyes showed it.

The waitress bent over them in turn. Ethel ordered a terrapin, a mixed salad, and a pot of black tea.

Hollingsworth ordered a filet de sole, some shoestring potatoes, a piece of pastry and a cup of black coffee.

All eyes in that part of the restaurant were upon them. Ethel was beautiful. Hollingsworth was greatly envied.

Yet, a strange silence fell over them. Conversation was apparently not for them.

"A lovers' quarrel," thought a bald-headed gentleman at the next table, "but she will melt him finally. Who could resist a face like hers? No, they're married. That's the trouble."

Still, they did not speak. Occasionally the girl sighed.

Suddenly Hollingsworth rose from the table, having finished his meal, took his overcoat and hat and without a word to his fair companion he stalked out of the place without even paying her check.

"The brute," mumbled the bald-headed man. "It must be more serious than I thought."

Placidly the girl finished her meal and then ordered a chocolate eclair, which she consumed leisurely. The absence of her stalwart companion did not seem to weigh heavily upon her and—there was a reason.

They were total strangers and had never seen each other before.

We are having the same trouble we had a year ago in regard to our salary adjustment, and we believe we told you about it at that time. The matter has been hanging fire for several days, the office wishing to thrust upon us more money per week than we think we earn, and we, bravely and with high-minded purpose, refusing absolutely to accept so large an increase. This is one of the trials of a column conductor's life. A column conductor is not like a street car conductor. He cannot take as much or as little as he thinks he is entitled to. We shall insist upon the lower figure and if we do not get it, will go down with our flag flying. But our readers should know us well enough by this time to believe that we will positively not abandon our principles in this matter. This, as we have often said, is a column with a conscience, and we will not hoard up any unearned increment this coming year. We'll say we won't. But it is a nuisance to be forever nagging back and forth and resisting temptation and all that

"NOW IT CAN BE TOLD"

Casual references are now being made in newspapers to President Wilson's "mental collapse." Always before it has been denied, and those who inquired about it were bitterly denounced, particularly by papers like the Milwaukee Journal. But now that Wilson's term of office is almost over, and it is evident that no legal action is to be taken, those on the inside are no longer taking the trouble to conceal the real facts, it seems. The President's wife and his private secretary have been exercising the powers of the presidency for about two years, apparently.

Under the law, the legislative and Congressional districts of Wisconsin will have to be reapportioned at this session. This is done once in ten years, after the federal census is taken. It will be taken up by a special committee appointed for the purpose as it necessitates considerable study and thought. Districts will necessarily have to be readjusted, to the gain probably of central and northern Wisconsin, which sections have had a decided growth the last decade.—Fennimore Times.
